Heather C. White has over twenty years of experience as a municipal attorney. She practices general municipal law and advises clients on the full range of matters of interest to local governments, including procurement, municipal real estate transactions, public construction, land use, open meeting law, ethics, and public records.

Prior to joining Harrington Heep, Heather worked as Framingham Town Counsel's designee in house with the Department of Public Works and provided legal counsel on all public construction matters during the peak of the department's massive capital improvement program. She later served as Legal Counsel at the Massachusetts Port Authority and focused her practice there on Capital Programs and Procurement. She currently serves as Town Counsel to the Towns of Berlin, Fairhaven, New Braintree, and Sherborn, and has served as special counsel for municipalities on real estate, procurement, and construction matters.

Heather graduated from American University with a Bachelor of Arts in Law and Society. She obtained her law degree from Boston College Law School. She is a past president and active member of the Massachusetts Municipal Lawyers Association and former co-chair of the Public Law Section Counsel of the Massachusetts Bar Association.
